

ABSTRACT

In a belt device passed over a plurality of rollers one of which is adjacent to a heat source, the temperature of part of a belt moving in the vicinity of the heat source varies little relative to the temperature of the other part of the belt.

5